THE SIGNS OF COMPLEXITY

- 6 locations.
- Multiple monthly invoices.
- Multiple telecommunication network providers and contacts.

THE CHALLENGES OF COMPLEXITY

A privately held, vertically-integrated real estate company that owns and manages a multi-million square foot portfolio of Class A commercial office properties was seeking to streamline their telecommunications network services and consolidate their invoicing at multiple properties. The Company also sought a single point of contact for all their accounts. BCN's expertise in multi-location, multi-service, multi-network deployments was the right fit to step in to conduct a network qualification and discovery process.

BCN FINDS SIMPLICITY IN COMPLEXITY

Close collaboration during the process between the BCN network engineering department and the customer's internal IT department proved key. In addition to the required services, the customer placed a high value on BCN's project management and installation capabilities as well as their ability to customize their invoicing on a granular level. Also of importance to the customer is the BCN process/follow through with regard to billing reconciliation. The customer is excited to consolidate all of their telecom services onto one monthly invoice, leverage their total spend, reduce their operating costs and gain access to newer technologies and management tools.
